"We have used Web Reporter for four years and couldn't live without it! In the first year, we saved over 750 hours of staff time. It paid for itself in four months. Using Narrowcast and pre-set scheduling, I deliver HTML or Excel reports to staff Inboxes whenever needed - daily, weekends, during my vacation. The possibilities for its use are limited only by my imagination, time and training.."

Get Ease and Power in One Simple Solution

SirsiDynix Web Reporter is extremely easy for a staff member who simply wants to run pre-developed reports. At the same time, it offers great capability for the power user to create new or customize existing reports.

Design Your Own Reports or Use Over 100 Pre-designed Reports

You decide what reports to use, which to create and how to create them:

- Choose from over 100 pre-defined reports
- Create your own reports from scratch
- Create reports from templates and modify

Enjoy SQL Functionality with No Programming Needs

Use data from multiple SQL databases without requiring knowledge of programming. Many SQL databases are supported, including: Oracle, Sybase, MS SQL and DB2.

Save Processing Space with a Zero-footprint Web Client

Web Reporter's zero-footprint web clients mean you don't have to worry about processing space or where you want to access information. You can access reports and data from home, work or anywhere in-between. The web clients give you the power of a Microsoft Windows client with the flexibility of a web browser.

Share Reports with Other Branches or Peers

Once your reports have been created and saved, you can share them with other branch libraries or peer libraries. In addition, reports can be set up automatically to be distributed to staff at pre-determined intervals. Web Reporter comes with a wide range of standard reports, including reports for circulation, acquisitions budget, serial collections, and collection development statistics.
